Knitalong Surprises in Front and Back

Our fall knitalong, Halite, is a universal sweater -- it can be knit in any yarn at any gauge to fit any size!

The sweater front features a mitered square that creates a diagonal 'seam.' It shows off variegated yarns especially well, but also looks great in a solid color. The back and sleeves are knit in a neutral contrasting color. The back features a second design with four miters.

The kimono-style sleeves are picked up and knit from the sweater body, and can be knit to any length.

Because the sweater can be knit in any weight of yarn, gauge is unimportant. Just pick a needle size appropriate for your yarn and you're good. The sample front was knit in Silk Garden Sock; the back in Tosh Merino Light.

Likewise, the sweater will fit any size. Just take a couple of basic measurements and you're on your way. No complicated shaping is involved.

The knitalong kicks off Saturday, September 24. More details are on Page 3.

Fiber Gallery Changing Ownership Soon

A new owner will be taking over the Fiber Gallery in late September.

Megan Warren, a northern California native by way of Hawaii, is in the process of purchasing the business from its founder, Mary Harris.

Megan is a long-time avid knitter who is fulfilling her dream of owning a yarn store.

She will introduce herself to all of you in more detail later in the fall.

Mary will be around the store to assist, at least through the end of the year. She is sad to see the end of an era but thrilled that The Fiber Gallery will be helping local knitters and crocheters for many years to come.
